

PICTURESQUE ITALIAN TOWN IS SCENE OF ALLIED CONFERENCE

A general view of San Remo.

San Remo, a picturesque little Italian town by the sea, is the scene of the present allied conference, which is the most important meeting of the kind since the departure of President Wilson from the peace conference. Problems of vital concern, such as the Turkish and Adriatic questions and the French advance into the Ruhr basin, are being discussed. San Remo was chosen for the conference because of its convenient situation, being about equally distant from Paris and Rome.

PALMER BAWLS OUT DEP'T. JUSTICE AGENTS

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE) WASHINGTON, April 26.—Atty. Gen. Palmer on Saturday wired to United States District Attorney Werka at Cleveland, O., that any threats of prosecutions of railroad strikers are "entirely improper" at this time and asked for full advice as to reports that department of justice agents had told railroad strikers in Cleveland to go back to work or to jail.

Atty. Gen. Palmer's telegram follows:

"Any threat by a representative of this department is at all times entirely improper and particularly so at this time. Those who conspire with each other to obstruct transportation of necessary or transportation of mails are guilty of a crime and are subject to prosecution. The law, however, does not compel an individual to work and a threat of prosecution of every individual who does not return to work is not justified either by the law or your instructions. If the facts warrant it you have the authority to institute prosecution for crimes, but under no circumstances would the action reported by the morning papers be proper. Please advise me fully about the situation."

A WORLD REBUILT

By the Golden Rule
not by the Rule of Gold

WHAT ARE the most precious elements in American Life?

Respect for the home? Jesus found women slaves; He made them companions. Down through the ages His Church has been the champion of women's rights and aspirations.

Respect for the man who works? It was the Carpenter of Nazareth who gave labor its great charter. "You are sons of God," He said. In that sentence Democracy was born.

Respect for property? Modern business is credit; and credit is character. All that makes property safe in the world is bound up in the reverence for law that religion breeds.

Respect for education? Who gave America her colleges? They were founded by Christian ministers, almost all of them.

On these great essentials must we build a better America, and a better world. And every one of them rests on the foundations of the Christian Church.

Thirty denominations of that Church are uniting now in a simultaneous campaign.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the Church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The appeal is to every lover of America, to you whether you are inside the Church or out. The rebuilding of the world is a spiritual task. Faith must be the cornerstone on which the new foundations are laid true; the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.
